

“Amazing company to work for.”

At James Whelan Butchers; native Irish famers, artisan salt-agers, local curers, hand-producers and master butchers come together to bring the best of our lands to the tables of Ireland.

Right now, we are looking for skilled butchers to join us as Artisan Master Butchers

As one of our proud artisan Master Butchers, you will be respected for your craft and thrive in a place where your skills can shine. We recognise that great teams produce great results, and we want you to flourish in an environment where excellence is admired.

“Your repertoire will become second-to-none.”

We want you to enjoy chats with our customers, where your natural personality and conversational flair will shine. Our apprentices will truly value the time and effort you spend sharing your skills to train them as the next generation of craftspeople.

So, if you love nose-to-tail butchery and want to learn and grow within a team that relishes challenge and innovation, then we would love to talk to you.

Additional Benefits:

We offer a competitive salary in an innovative, progressive, sustainably-driven company.

We provide all employees with an Employee Assistance Programme (offering immediate assistance to all employees on numerous issues).

An employee discount scheme for artisan produce.

We will be able to offer you advancement, if that is your goal, in a culture where your skills will be rewarded.

Openings available nationwide:

Kilmacanogue
Rathcoole
Naas
Blanchardstown

Rathmines
Swords
Cornelscourt
Leopardstown
Jetland
Bandon Rd
Tralee
Clonmel